Gwinnett Health System, a member of PROMINA Health System, is a not-for-profit healthcare network providing a wide array of high quality services and facilities to Gwinnett and surrounding counties. With roots that go back over 50 years with the founding of Joan Glancy Memorial Hospital in 1943, Gwinnett Health System now includes three hospitals plus supporting facilities. We have over 3,100 employees and over 675 affiliated physicians on our medical staff. In fiscal year 2000, Gwinnett Health System served 343,005 inpatients, outpatients, emergency patients and newborns.

Our Vision is to be the health system of choice in our community by enhancing the health of our patients and other customers.

Our Mission is to provide quality health services to our community.

Our Corporate Values guide our success:

- The Customer is First and Foremost
- Respect for the Individual
- The Pursuit of Excellence
- The Promotion of Positive Change
- Service to the Community
Dear Neighbors,

The decade of the ’90s was a time of introspection for much of corporate America. It was a time to put our houses in order for the coming millennial milestone. It was an era of anticipation, teeming with the sense that the future was about to arrive.

For those of us in the healthcare industry, however, the need to look within, examine, prepare, tinker and retool was far more compelling. With the confluence of sweeping market-driven healthcare reform and the deleterious effects of the Balanced Budget Act of 1997, our very survival was – and still is – at stake.

Because our business affects the health and well-being of our customers, ours is, by nature, an introspective industry. We always want the best outcome for our patients, so we constantly look within for ways to maintain and improve the quality of our services.

But in the ’90s, the constantly changing healthcare landscape, along with shrinking reimbursements from insurers, Medicare and Medicaid, touched off a spate of hospital-based CHANGE initiatives intended to redesign care delivery internally for greater efficiency and cost reduction. These would not only empower healthcare organizations to better contend with external financial pressures, but they would also improve patient satisfaction through improved outcomes and more efficient services.

Though located in a rapidly growing area where volume and demand have only increased, Gwinnett Health System was not immune to these external pressures. With an emphasis on Continuous Quality Improvement that began in the early ’90s already under our belt, in 1997 we embarked on a very deliberate internal CHANGE process to prepare for external challenges we knew were headed our way.

For nearly two years we scrutinized our existing processes. We conducted cost studies. We researched and benchmarked other companies and healthcare organizations. We did comparative analysis. We drew up lists of recommendations for change. Then we reorganized our corporate structure and designed and implemented new care delivery processes.
We’ve learned a great deal from our introspective studies. We’ve discovered how to position our organization to operate more efficiently and to respond more quickly to the constant changes in our industry—all to better meet the needs of our customers.

But one of the most heartening things we’ve learned is this: Our primary focus and highest priority has always been correctly focused on our customers. Our first Corporate Value says it best—The Customer First and Foremost. Patient care is our most fundamental purpose. Patient care and customer service will always be our primary focus and highest priority.

Despite the shifting sands of CHANGE, we found that we have solid ground on which we can continue to build permanent structures that can weather these challenging times. The Customer First and Foremost. With this as our focus and our priority, we all win. Read on to learn about Signs of Healthy Change that have emerged at Gwinnett Health System during fiscal year 2000.

Sincerely,

Franklin M. Rinker

SIGNS OF HEALTHY CHANGE

You’ve come to a Gwinnett Health System facility as an inpatient, outpatient or simply to attend a class or health screening. What are your primary concerns?

You want to get the treatment or service you need to help you feel better or to stay healthy. You also want your hospital experience to go smoothly and to be as comfortable and convenient as possible.

These simple expectations certainly aren’t too much to ask. And it’s no coincidence that they are also the foundation upon which our health system is built.

From our wide-ranging clinical departments, housekeeping and nutrition services to our educational, marketing, community outreach and information technology programs, your expectations drive every distinct part of our operation.

To meet your most basic expectations, however, it takes a tightly choreographed team of organized, dedicated people with wide-ranging skills using tried-and-true processes and state-of-the-art technology in clean, well-designed facilities. Pulling all this together in a coordinated fashion 24 hours a day, seven days a week is no small accomplishment.

Our commitment to doing whatever it takes to provide quality care to our patients and customers is reflected in our Vision and Mission statements, and in our five Corporate Values – the guideposts by which we do everything we do. And after our season of introspection, redesign and CHANGE, we think we’re even better equipped to provide all the elements that, together, generate the care and service that you and your family expect and deserve.
FOCUSING ON WHAT WON’T CHANGE

CHANGE can be invigorating and positive, but it can also be stressful. That’s why, in this tumultuous time in the healthcare industry, we find strength in things that will never change. The paradox is that our renewed emphasis on these unchangeables — our five Corporate Values — empowers us to resist the distractions of the many transformations swirling through our industry today and, instead, find solid footing in the guidelines that keep us focused on what matters most:

- The Customer is First and Foremost
- Respect for the Individual
- The Pursuit of Excellence
- The Promotion of Positive Change
- Service to the Community

These values constantly remind us that nothing is of greater significance to our organization than the individuals who give and receive its services. By putting our Customers First and Foremost, we focus all of our energies in one direction, yielding a total team effort and high quality customer service. By treating our fellow associates as customers, we reassure our patients and their families that if we treat each other with caring and respect, we’ll certainly do the same for them.

Excellence. Positive change. Community service. These values, too, ultimately impact the individuals who receive care at our organization. And what a superb motivation this is for constantly looking for innovative ways to improve our processes and systems.

Gwinnett Health System’s associate team includes many family members, among them Clinical Nurse Specialist Pam Garland, an 18-year associate, and her mother, Patient Access Coordinator Honorine Padula, who has been with GHS for 21 years.

PATIENT CARE

When the doctor, nurse, therapist or tech appears at your bedside, you won’t see flashing neon signs announcing that healthy changes have been made in Gwinnett Health System’s patient care processes. What you will see, however, is the focus our clinical staff members have on providing the care you need from the right caregivers at the right time and place. What’s more, you’ll notice that your care plan goals are handled smoothly by a well-coordinated and efficient team of healthcare professionals.
In fiscal year 2000, we implemented a new way of providing care that is built around our patients’ and customers’ needs and expectations. Our new care delivery process, which we call Service Lines, groups similar services in patient care – and even in support areas – into clusters. These groupings remove the barriers so often seen in hospitals’ traditional stand-alone department structure.

By grouping all of our Imaging services together under a single “line” of service, for example, it’s far easier for all of them – from X-ray, Ultrasound, Mammography and MRI to Nuclear Medicine, Bone Densitometry and Cardiology – to share ideas, knowledge of best practices, new techniques and resources. And with a team of caregivers that communicate more efficiently, you’ll see far less duplication of effort for more coordinated, consistent care, and a higher level of satisfaction with the outcome of your treatment.

Each of our Service Lines has a planning board that brings together the full range of clinical perspective and expertise for better and quicker decision-making. Physician leadership on these boards ensures that information on the latest innovations in care practices is readily available and can be incorporated into your care regimen.

To be sure that our care services are truly effective, in fiscal year 2000 we underwent a productivity study conducted by the Voluntary Hospitals of America, a national organization for not-for-profit healthcare organizations, to learn how we can improve our operations and patient care practices. We also implemented a new measurement tool to track such factors as clinical effectiveness, customer and staff satisfaction and positive financial performance. More efficient and effective patient care is one of our proudest signs of healthy change for the year 2000.

It is both a CHANGE and a CONSTANT: Gwinnett Health System always has a construction project underway. To stay a step ahead of our community’s growing need for new or expanded health services, we must constantly build, renovate or expand our facilities.

In fiscal year 2000, we broke ground for a 17,422 square foot expansion at the Gwinnett Women’s Pavilion. The new 10-room High-Risk Pregnancy Unit will allow us to offer a comfortable, home-like setting for moms-to-be who must spend months in the hospital to ensure delivery of healthy babies. Each patient room will have a kitchenette with a microwave oven and refrigerator, desks, computer ports for both mom and dad, and plenty of storage space. The expansion also includes five additional postpartum patient rooms for the Women’s Pavilion’s constantly increasing patient population.

In June, we opened our new Center for Gastrointestinal and Pulmonary Endoscopy in renovated and expanded space on the first floor of Gwinnett Medical Center. The 6,270 square foot expansion provides two new procedure rooms and new pre- and post-operative care areas. The Medical Center now offers five state-of-the-art procedure rooms and a reprocessing room. System-wide, Gwinnett Health System has eight endoscopy procedure rooms and 27 gastroenterologists, pulmonologists, colon and rectal surgeons and general practitioners treating patients.

Technology plays a key role in healthcare today, and Gwinnett Health System is committed to staying abreast of advances that can help us increase efficiency, improve patient comfort and outcomes and even reduce errors through more precise record-keeping.

In fiscal year 2000, we acquired a state-of-the-art computer-assisted surgery system called the StealthStation for use in brain, spinal, intranasal and sinus surgery. Using imaging data from CT or MRI scanning equipment, the StealthStation allows surgeons to “see through” tissue by building a three-dimensional image model of the patient’s head or spine. The model is then electronically matched to the patient’s anatomy during surgery. This technology not only allows surgeons to work with unprecedented precision, but it also reduces overall costs, time spent in the operating room, blood loss and hospital stays.

In the Gwinnett Medical Center Emergency Department, two new technologies have greatly improved patient tracking, triage, documentation, ordering capabilities and staff communication. The new EmSTAT system greatly reduces the reams of paper patient documentation while increasing the integrity and accuracy of patient data collected. Our EmSTAT system was customized to also allow Emergency staff to key in patient allergy information to prescriptions to reduce the possibility of medication errors.

Using a new customized internal Companion Cell Phone system, our GMC Emergency Department has opened new channels of communication between Emergency physicians and nursing staff. The system can also be used as a link to other physicians, physician offices and other resources. All on-duty Emergency physicians carry cell phones that operate on a frequency that doesn’t interfere with monitors and other equipment. This system allows for a constant flow of information on patient conditions, medications and clinical decisions between doctors and nurses, therapists and technicians.

A new three-year contract with SODEXHO, a Marriott company, was signed in November of 1999 to manage our Environmental Services and Engineering Departments. This will be done, in part, with new technologies that track everything from supply usage and work activities to patient room readiness status.

Technology is an essential tool in healthcare. That’s why we believe that staying abreast of the latest developments is a sign of healthy change at Gwinnett Health System.

EXPANDING OUR SERVICES TO THE COMMUNITY

We all derive great benefits from the community in which we live, and Gwinnett Health System is no exception. Without our community, we would have no incentive to grow, to improve, to exist. That’s why we take our fifth and final Corporate Value – Service to the Community – very much to heart.

Our efforts to give back to our community come in many different forms. We are proud that many of our associates are active community volunteers on their own time. Many also give of themselves and their resources through system-sponsored programs. During fiscal year 2000, at least 1,000 GHS associates made a three-year financial commitment to the Gwinnett Hospital System Foundation’s S.T.A.R.S. (Standing Together Associates Reach Success) Campaign to help fund our System’s community outreach projects through the Foundation. Our annual System-wide United Way campaign raised $75,162 for community social service agencies.

Corporately, Gwinnett Health System worked very hard on a number of fronts in fiscal year 2000 to bring needed services and programs to targeted populations in our community.
We responded to the needs of our teens by sponsoring the Let’s Talk family communication program, a part of the Teen Pregnancy Prevention program and a National Safety Council Defensive Driving program for teens and their parents.

Our three community clinics – the Miles Mason, Jr. Community Clinic, the OB/GYN Clinic and The Kids’ Clinic – provide underserved families, moms-to-be and kids with discounted or free healthcare services.

Our thriving Parish Nurse Program has now expanded to include nine area churches.

Our Care-a-Van mobile mammography van offers low-cost mammogram screenings at locations all over the county.

Our free Healthy Seniors program provides health screenings, social events, a quarterly newsletter and health and wellness information to area residents age 50 and over.

Throughout the year, Gwinnett Health System offers health-related education opportunities in a wide range of areas, from aerobics classes, sports physicals, nutrition counseling, and smoking cessation to childbirth preparation classes, babysitting classes, menopause seminars, prostate screenings, asthma day camps for children and their parents and a range of support groups.

Community outreach is the primary focus of the Gwinnett Hospital System Foundation, which sponsors a number of annual events and programs to raise funds for programs designed to improve the health of our community. In fiscal year 2000, the Foundation completed its $2 million Kids’ Care Campaign which helped fund programs for children from infants to teens. Along with its S.T.A.R.S. campaign for GHS associates, the Foundation also received $40,000 in funding support from within our organization from our community-spirited GHS Auxiliary and Volunteers.

Our ongoing desire to constantly look for more and better ways to provide access to free or low-cost health services is our response to our fifth Corporate Value and a sign of healthy change for our community.
OUR GROWING TEAM

We can build and expand and renovate, but new and expanded and renovated buildings will never be able to treat your injuries or illnesses. For that, we need skilled and caring people – the heart and soul of our organization. And as Gwinnett Health System grows, so grows our team of associates, physicians and volunteers.

In fiscal year 2000, our team of associates grew to a record 3,166 members. Our team members are on duty 24 hours a day, seven days a week, 365 days a year, including holidays! You’ll see members of our associate team providing care or support services in positions ranging from doctor, nurse, therapist, clinician and tech to executive, administrator, engineer, construction specialist, educator, counselor, social worker, food service staffer, housekeeper, accountant, information technologist, biotechnologist, marketing representative, community outreach specialist – and many more.

Our Medical Staff is also growing. Today, our medical staff roster includes 676 physicians representing 52 specialties. These men and women must meet stringent requirements to be accepted to our physician team. This is one more way we seek to ensure quality care and service to you and your family.

Our team also includes over 250 Volunteers who donate their time, energy and bright spirit for the betterment of our organization and its services. Our Volunteers serve in a wide range of capacities, from rocking babies in our Neonatal Intensive Care Unit to transporting patients, delivering radiology films, manning phones and information desks and staffing special events and community health fairs and screenings. In fiscal year 2000, our Volunteers donated 45,000 hours of time and energy to Gwinnett Health System. That’s roughly equal to the efforts of 22 full-time associates!

The energy and expertise of our team of associates, medical staff and volunteers are the life force of Gwinnett Health System. Their willingness to do whatever it takes to provide the services you and your family need – even if it means fundamental CHANGE in the way we do business – is a sign of healthy change in our organization and in our community.

The Gwinnett Hospital System Foundation is a private, not-for-profit corporation that exists to support Gwinnett Health System in fulfilling its Mission of providing quality health services to our community. Specifically, the GHS Foundation supports one of Gwinnett Health System’s core values: Service to the Community. We do this by funding programs that meet community needs for awareness, preventive medicine, health education and indigent care. Our Board of Trustees manages the business affairs of the Foundation. A Development Board is responsible for the development and coordination of all fund-raising strategies. The Development Council, made up of all active volunteers, implements our fund-raising activities.

The Gwinnett Hospital System Foundation exists today because of the generosity and philanthropy of our community. As our donors help us build a solid framework to ensure that the healthcare needs of our community are met, the Gwinnett Hospital System Foundation annually acknowledges and thanks those donors who make contributions at various giving levels.

A TRIBUTE TO JAMES E. HINSHAW, SR.

As the new millennium dawned, the Hinshaw era at Gwinnett Health System was drawing to a close. Since 1986, when he was elected to the Hospital Authority of Gwinnett County, James E. Hinshaw, Sr., has volunteered countless hours and boundless energy in service to Gwinnett Health System — and in a number of capacities.

"To me, a hospital is the heart and pulse of the community, and if you can help a hospital, you can make a difference in the lives of everyone in the community," he once said.

And make a difference he did. Mr. Hinshaw served on the Hospital Authority from 1986 until 2000. From 1990 to 1992, he was its chairman.

From 1992 to 2000, he also served on the Gwinnett Hospital System Board of Directors, which he chaired for the first six years of his eight-year term of service.

In 1994, Mr. Hinshaw began a six-year term as chairman of the Gwinnett Health System Board of Directors. A year later, in 1995, he was elected to the PROMINA Health System Board of Directors, which he chaired from 1998 to 2000.

In 1970, Mr. Hinshaw and his wife, Faye, started a company that supplied parts to companies who manufacture specialty and admissions kits for hospitals. It was then that his interest in giving back to the community through service to his local hospital system began to take hold and grow into a full-fledged passion.

Mr. Hinshaw is founder and president of Precision Molding. He has served as Director, Secretary and President of the Gwinnett Rotary Club, and he is also a founding trustee and served as vice president of PROMINA Health System, Inc., until his election as chairman of the PROMINA Health System Board of Directors.

We at Gwinnett Health System extend our heartfelt thanks to our friend Jim for his many countless contributions through his many years of service to our organization and our community.

Thank you, Jim.

"We must be a system that’s solid and community-based, and we must see and adapt to changes as they come about."

— James E. Hinshaw, Sr.
